“Despite the intense workload, I loved Studio 58 at Langara. Twelve hours a day, six days a week. It was a huge emotional commitment. But students get to learn all the facets of the theatre business, including production and costume design - in the end they don't have to be dependant on others to create something. There is no other program in Canada with such a comprehensive curriculum.”

“You cannot take anything for granted—go into everything as if it were your last gig. Never get disappointed because something will come your way.”
