

Aisle seat

SONJA BENNETT
shooting John Doe episode

Sonja Bennett was named best Canadian actress of 2002 by the Vancouver Film Critics Circle for her role in Punch, directed by her father Guy Bennett. The Vancouver actress has appeared in other features (My Life Without Me, The Perfect Score) and is spending this week shooting an episode of the Fox TV series John Doe.

What was the last movie you watched at home?

The Royal Tenenbaums. I loved it. I'm a big fan of Wes Anderson. I love Rushmore as well. I think The Royal Tenenbaums is very clever and witty and imaginative and I love the storybook aspect.

What was the last movie you saw at the theatre?

Adaptation. It brought Chris Cooper to my attention and it was nice to see Meryl Streep in an edgier role than she usually gets to play.

What movie could you watch over and over?

When I was 13 I was obsessed with Wayne's World. My best friend Mandy and I had a goal of watching Wayne's World 100 times. We memorized the movie.

What movie do you wish you'd never seen?

America's Sweethearts. I was in the mood for a really good bad movie but then it turned out to be just a bad bad movie.

If you could spend the day with one movie personality, who would it be?

Daniel Day-Lewis. I saw Gangs of New York and the film didn't do very much for me but he is mesmerizing in it. I heard that he spent the last five years working as an apprentice for a shoemaker. I find him fascinating as a human being and I can't keep my eyes off him on screen.

— David Spaner